

ERRATA.

Pag.	Lin.		Pag.	Lin.
60	14	for one, read own.	125	7	after by, r. the.
61	11	for shou'd, r. might.	131	3	for many, r. may.
ibid	14	after Intelligence, r. without	156	10	for shew, r. shewing.
		the help of External Bodies	160	19	after relation, r. in.
83	9	for came, r. come.	165	7	for any r. some.
121	7	after there, r. are.	187	19	for have r. hath.
124	1	f. acception, r. acceptance.

☞ Page 12, line 5, after General Ideas whatsoever, these Words are to be Inserted, viz. To be plain, I own my self able to abstract in one Sense, as when I consider some particular Parts or Qualities separated from others, with which tho they are united in some Object, yet it is possible they may really Exist without them. But I deny that I can abstract from one another, or conceive separately, those Qualities which it is impossible shou'd Exist so separated; or that I can frame a General Notion by abstracting from Particulars in the manner aforesaid. Which two last are the proper Acceptations of Abstraction.

OF

